Champion Makes Light of Injury and Some Argue It Will Make Him Win by K.O.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 18—A cut on the right eyelid, suffered by Champion Gene Tunney 10 days ago, and reopened Thursday, may cost the Greenwich Villager his world's title when he meets Jack Dempsey in the Soldier Stadium on the lakefront here Thursday night. Ironically enough, Tunney was engaging in his last workout with the mitts when the accident occurred. A local camp hand, Jackie Williams, was responsible for the blow—a vagrant wallop from a tyro that may cost Tunney a million dollars.

ED HUGHES

The cut had about healed, but the optic as it looks today, provides a shining target for the relentless challenger, Dempsey. The lid is swelled and a discolorment surrounds the whole eye. Physicians examining the bruise make light of it, even permitting Tunney to box, should he so desire. Attending medicos insisted that the entire ailment will have disappeared in a few days, and that there is no cause for worry on Tunney's part.

The champion may feel that way about it, too. However, there is a very fair chance that the monarch of the heavyweights has exhibited for the last time his boxing skill in training for this bout. Dempsey supporters in the Loop district were inclined to be jubilant over what appears to be an advantage for Dempsey created through a twist of fate.

Like Twain's Death, Much Exaggerated.

Tunney does not appear to be over-concerned about the mishap, however. On the phone from his Lake Villa training camp, some 60 miles from Chicago, the champion explained his feelings thus: "Greatly exaggerated that story about my cut eye. It doesn't amount to anything, just a slight discolorment that any one can receive in the most casual boxing bout. It isn't half as bad as the one Dempsey got when he was training for Carpentier, and not much ado as made about that."

"Suppose Dempsey happens to nail me on the sore eye with a hard left?" we queried.

"Well, if he hits me hard enough naturally, there is nothing to be afraid of. Otherwise the eye, as you will stand up against ordinary

Anita Peabody Winning the Futurity

Mrs. Hertz' Filly Beats Stable Mate Reigh Count By Nose for $92,550

By W. C. VREELAND.

FOR THE FIRST TIME in the history of The Futurity, which had its 38th running at Belmont Park yesterday, a fair patroness of the turf, to wit, Mrs. John D. Hertz of the Middle West, won it. Anita Peabody did the trick.

This would have been sufficient glory for most any man, let alone a woman. But Lady Luck having thrown her smile on the fair sex fairly piled favor upon favor.

Not satisfied with granting the winner's portion, $92,950 net, to Anita Peabody, that fickle dame had to bestow upon Mrs. Hertz second honors. And thus it was that Mrs. Hertz' colors, yellow, black circle on sleeves, yellow cap, finished second on Reigh Count, beaten only a nose by her favorite, the daughter of Luke McLuke—La Dauphine.

An Epoch in History of the Race.

This marked an epoch in the history of the race. It was quite fitting that something untoward should take place. For was not this the richest Futurity in its history? Was it not also the richest turf event in the U. S. A., South America, Europe, the entire world for that matter? Its gross value was $116,350.

And of this amount Mrs. Hertz with her two pair of juveniles, Anita Peabody and Reigh Count, gathered to her credit $103,550.

This was money galore—making it faster than the presses of Uncle Sam could print $20 bills, stamping and signing them, making them legal tender. For it took only Anita Peabody and Reigh Count one minute, 1:21-45, to step the short seven furlongs—165 feet less that distance—before they fairly heaped that much currency into their fair owner's lap.

Rich Prizes For First Four Horses.

Behind this pair was Harry Payne Whitney's Victorian, which earned $5,800, that being the third turf prize. A head away from Victorian was A. H. Cosden's Vito, which garnered $1,000 for being fourth.

It was an exciting finish. Anita Peabody and Reigh Count and Victorian were grouped, but Vito was on the far side of the track fairly under the eyes of the judges. But for this great width of the track separating them the old proverbial blanket could have covered them.

This value to the first four horses as rounded out by nomination fees donated to those who had named the dams of the three placed horses. The nominator of the winner received $3,000, the nominator of the second, $2,000, and the nominator of the third, $1,000.

Many a Thrill For Mrs. J. D. Hertz.

But before the race was fully determined Mrs. Joan D. Hertz had many a thrill. Thrill No. 1 was when she saw Anita Peabody jump out of the pack from the start and show her heels to her opponents up to the last 50 yards.

Then when the goal was nearly reached, when excitement was at its height, while 40,000 men and women—the record crowd of the season—were peeped with anticipation, with the desire to see their choice

PITTSBURG, Sept. 17—Having laid the ghost of Chicago's pennant hopes in its Wrigley Field grave, our Brooklyn Robins constituted a threat to the league-leading Pirates as they cockily paraded their three-game winning streak in the Dreyfus' orchard today. The boys were in the mood for winning some more pennant hopes, but their flesh was as weak as their bones willing.

"Bill" Puts Up Gallant Fight, but Lacoste Is Again Master of Courts

By GEORGE CURRIE.

STADIUM, FOREST HILLS, Sept. 17—Rene Lacoste, chief of France's victorious tennis "musketeers," for the second time in succession today won the American singles title by defeating a courageous attempt by William T. Tilden 2d to snatch some consolation from a year which has been his swan song. The score was 11-9, 3-11, 6-3.

Never before in its history has the West Side tennis club stadium setting for a championship match. The great concrete structure was early banked high with the 14,500 who had been wise enough to arrive and served seats early. About 1,500 standees lined up through the entrance of the stadium and passed through the gates to the arena.

EASTERN WOMEN'S GOLF SUPREMACY THREATENED BY MRS. PRESSLER

Western Champion's Iron Play Rivals Accuracy of Alexa Stirling Fraser's

By RALPH TROST

(Staff Correspondent of The Eagle.)

GARDEN CITY, L. I., Sept. 17—Mrs. Henry G. Pressler of San Gabriel, with her rounded assortment of golf strokes, leads the largest group of Far West golfers ever to assault the East's supremacy in women's circles. And the pleasant-voiced, handsome Californian matron looms as a serious threat, just as worthy of attention as the threat being made from the east, from France by Mile. Simone Thion De La Chaume.

As the sun dropped low and darkness overcast the Hempstead Plains in that bluish glow so typical of twilight, this blond-haired Western champion stood alongside the ninth green, sending ball after ball winging down the practice fairway. They were as nice crisp iron strokes as have been displayed by any of the women golfers, with the possible exception of Alexa.

Stirling Fraser, who is probably the finest iron player among American women.

Gets 170 Yards With A Midmashie.

We sat on the rise in back of the green and watched her. Mrs. Pressler kept at her task. Her midmashie was kept working. Grasping her club firmly in her fingers, she sent the ball flying down to the little patch of rough beneath the trees. That is 170 yards and her shots held the line nicely as they sailed into the wind.

A woman, we thought, who can get 170 yards with a No. 3 iron played into a breeze, surely can hit an iron. Each time she placed her ball always well away from her body rather than close in as is considered etiquette. Her club head came back always inside the ball and went down through again in an arc that was only slightly wider.

Mrs. Pressler is not a big woman. She doesn't look nearly as strong as Maureen Orcutt or the chubby Helen Hicks or Mrs. Fraser. But she gets the distance.

Mrs. Pressler Holds the Women's Western Title.

Mrs. Pressler won the Western title at Lake Geneva. That was quite an honor, but that crown doesn't go very far in the East. But in her we see a golfer who knows her shots better than any other Western title holder we have seen.

She continued driving balls down the fairway until we were forced to wonder at the stamina and patience that could keep her so long at her task.

The last of the practice balls was driven. She turned to chat while her long-legged caddy collected them and brought them back. And they were sent flying down that practice fairway again.

Thinks a 92 Will Get Place in 32.

"Al around here," this pleasant-voiced woman commented, "I hear talk of the dire need for a 90 if one could qualify. That seems low to me. And there seems an impression that a woman will have to better 80 to get the medal. Maybe so, but I don't think so."

She played two rounds, an 87 and an 89, on Saturday. Her total for the two days was 176, which is 92 on a par of 84. She compared with the 77 recorded yesterday by Mrs. Stetson and the consistent low 80 marks turned in by crisply right down the middle of the first fairway.

Mrs. Fraser was getting her shots by doing what so few women can do, by employing a short, sharp, accurate hit. There Mrs. Fraser and Mrs. Pressler differ. Mrs. Pressler, while not guilty of overwinging on her iron shots as are so many women, is a swinger but she gets her shots up nicely nevertheless.

Mrs. Pressler Practices, Glenna Watches Tennis.

Mrs. Pressler looks like a real good golfer and she's just as ambitious to take the title back to the coast as was George Von Elm. Mrs. Pressler has more of a chance than did blonde-headed George when he made his first assault upon the national amateur championship.

Glenna Collett played a round yesterday morning. Not having seen the entire affair it is impossible to say just how well she scored. Glenna is that way about her practice rounds. But she appeared satisfied. Most of her shots were excellently hit, particularly her woods.

Glenna Has Gotten Away From Body Sway.

The old body sway that was so inclined to send shots far off line when there was the slightest hitch in her timing was missing. And Glenna was getting the longest ball we have seen her hit without that over-full body swing.

In the afternoon Glenna went over to the tennis matches to watch Rene Lacoste down Bill Tilden. So was Mile. De La Chaume a part of the crowd.

Those of the critics who saw Mrs. Stetson's victory at Marlon one of those things in sports circles called "flukes" maybe are doomed to

NORWEGIAN SLOOP WINS FIRST CUP RACE FROM U. S.

Crown Prince Olaf's Noreg Beats Commodore Plant's Clytie on the Sound.

(Special to The Eagle.)

Oyster Bay, N. Y., Sept. 17—The prestige of American yachtsmen in small boat sailing received an unexpected setback here today when Noreg, the Norwegian challenger for the historic Seawanhaka international challenge cup won the initial event of the series which will be decided by the best three out of five races. The winning sloop, Noreg, owned by Crown Prince Olaf and sailed by Magnus Konow, crossed the finish line in 1 minute and 53 seconds.

The race was twice around a six-mile windward course, with a fresh southwest breeze sweeping across the waters. Captain Konow, taking a windward position, was the first across the starting line and immediately established his supremacy for this single race at least.

Captain Hoyt took the leeward side of the line just under the bow of the committee boat and was 12 seconds late in getting away. A slight shift in the breeze favored the invading craft and she soon established a leading position.

As they reached the first weather position Noreg rounded at 2:40:55 and Clytie at 2:42:29. At the end of the first round Clytie picked up 34 seconds and the hopes of the American enthusiast was momentarily raised. On the second windward leg the breeze increased but Noreg continued to strengthen her lead and gained 38 seconds more. On the final run Clytie failed to foot and Noreg increased her time 13 seconds.

As the two boats came down the last half mile of the course they were flanked by a great fleet of pleasure craft. More than 300 boats, including two United States destroyers and six Coast Guard cutters, which were used to patrol the course, witnessed the great feat.

up, denoting that trouble was ahead for the first horse. Imagine, then, the feelings of Mrs. Hertz while the stewards deliberated whether to disqualify her two horses. Here was $103,550 at the tip of her fingers. Here it was almost within her grasp. Was it slipping—slipping—slipping?

Could any one blame Mrs. Hertz if under the circumstances her heart beat a trifle faster, that her nerves jumped with the zip, zip of the spark plug of a motorboat, if there was a sort of gone feeling all over her?

And then the reaction, the bounding joy when the red board went up announcing mutely "All's well, the race is confirmed." Who will not sympathize with Mrs. Hertz in that sigh of relief under such circumstances when the numbers "6" and "7" were hoisted?

Nineteen Horses Out of 1,707.

Nineteen juveniles made up the field of starters—19 out of 1,707 nominations made on Jan. 3, 1925, for this event. Harry Payne Whitney's quartet—Groucher, Agitator, Victorian and Purrr—were the favorites at 7 to 5 backed down from 11 to 5.

The 19 horses were not more than three minutes at the barrier. Anita Peabody broke like a flash and was soon well on her way. As stated, she never was headed. Nimbus Shows Way In Manhasset Bay Yacht Club Race

(Special to The Eagle.)

Port Washington, L. I., Sept. 17—The annual fall races of the Manhasset Bay Yacht Club were sailed off this port today. The largest class to appear was the Larchmont 38-footers. The Mailsted boys on the Nimbus won the race by 19 seconds.

In the 10-meter race the Revenge, sailed by Commodore Carlisle, was first. The Nautilus finished second and the Narcissus was third. All the N. Y. Y. C. thirties were ten or more seconds late at the start. There were eight starters and the winner turned up in Banzai which led the Silhouette by 31 seconds. Lena was third.

Bill Fights Hard But Rene Lacoste Keeps Net Title

unruffled calm Rene went to work methodically in the third game to win back that break, and he did by pushing "Bill" all over the court. However, aided by a double fault, "Bill" came right back and then proceeded to run the score out to 4-1 in his favor.

With that set apparently in his grasp after each had won another service, "Bill" rashly decided to throw the eighth game, to go through to set-point on his own service. None should criticize him for that. Ordinarily that is sound tactics. A man with a Tilden smash always has the edge on his own service.

"Bill" Found One Must Not Throw Points to Lacoste.

But Lacoste is no ordinary man. Pulling his gray cap lower on his head and walking nonchalantly over to receive service, Rene went to work with an icy determination and, aided by a double fault, squared the play at deuce. He finally won the game at 6-4 after a thrilling rally of soft strokes and high lobs, the last of which he crowned with a kill at the net that bounced the ball into the stands. This put the set at 5-4, with Tilden still leading.

Crowd Rooted Desperately For "Bill" to Take Set.

Benjamin Dwight, the umpire, had to caution the gallery, which was no longer able to restrain itself. "Come on, Bill!" rippled through the crowd and women screamed as "Bill" won the first point and then the second against Lacoste's service.

But this "musketeer" was out to make himself a two-time champion of America. Putting on steam, he sailed in, forcing Tilden back from the net and finishing off with a succession of drop shots which "Bill" could only drive far out. The last shot was the most spectacular, coming after the ball had passed over the net and back eight times. Rene glided up for the set-up, only to have Tilden make a desperate lob which went to the baseline. The champion

Those of the critics who saw Mrs. Stetson's victory at Marion out of those things in sports circles called "flukes" maybe are doomed to have to recall their words. And if this action is forced it will be because Mrs. Stetson knows one phase of golf real well—the work around the greens.

Cherry Valley Demands Expert Putting. Cherry Valley, you remember, is the course that fooled the metropolitan district's professionals into thinking it was a cinch. But after tramping over Jimmy Law's treasured greens they were of another frame of mind. Cherry Valley greens are not easy putting. One must leave the stroke. The biff-bang style of putting goes. The women will find this out.

Around most of the greens are little hillocks. To play over them requires delicacy. And that is what Mrs. Stetson has—a finesse in her fingers that can wield clubs employed in the short game with infinite precision.

It seems to me that 92 or thereabouts should be good enough to get in, though of course I wouldn't want my score to be that high. The caddy returned with the balls and Mrs. Pressler continued her practice.

Is Not a Punter Like Mrs. Fraser. Few women can get a ball up well with a No. 3 iron. Mrs. Pressler's ability to soar the ball for practically the entire distance of the shot created a nice impression, the line of flight itself denoting a firmly hit shot.

We have also been watching Alexa Stirling Fraser hit a mid-iron. This woman—the pupil of Stewart Maiden of Atlanta, from whom Bob Jones is supposed to have learned his iron play—was hitting shots nicely and

They played two rounds, an 87 and an 88. Those are fair enough for me, but look rather atypical when compared with the 77 recorded yesterday by Mrs. Stetson and the consistent low 80 marks turned in by Mlle. De La Chaume and Miss Collett. I doubt that an 80 will be broken in the qualifying round.

It seems to me that 92 or thereabouts should be good enough to get in, though of course I wouldn't want my score to be that high. The caddy returned with the balls and Mrs. Pressler continued her practice.

Is Not a Punter Like Mrs. Fraser. Few women can get a ball up well with a No. 3 iron. Mrs. Pressler's ability to soar the ball for practically the entire distance of the shot created a nice impression, the line of flight itself denoting a firmly hit shot.

We have also been watching Alexa Stirling Fraser hit a mid-iron. This woman—the pupil of Stewart Maiden of Atlanta, from whom Bob Jones is supposed to have learned his iron play—was hitting shots nicely and

SOCCER GAINING POPULARITY AS SCHOOL SPORT

Schedule Calling for Games in Three Divisions Arranged by P. S. A. L.

Soccer, which has gained in popularity during recent years, will occupy an important place in the scholastic athletic activities again this fall. The tournament conducted by the P. S. A. L. will again be divided into three sections because of the large number of competing units.

The first division will be composed exclusively of Manhattan and Bronx elevens. The second division not only includes Brooklyn aggregations, but Curtis of Staten Island and Textile of Manhattan. The third division comprises a mixture of Brooklyn and Queens combinations in addition to Seward Park of Manhattan.

The third division will commence its season on Saturday, Oct. 1, but the other two divisions will not swing into action until one week later. Daniel M. Alperin, chairman of the soccer committee, and his co-workers on that body, have exercised extreme care in drawing up the schedule for the tournament. The program follows:

- Division 1.
OCT. 1
Morris vs. Townsend Harris, Commerce vs. Theodore Roosevelt, George Washington vs. De Witt Clinton, James Monroe vs. Stuyvesant.
- OCT. 8
De Witt Clinton vs. Morris, George Washington vs. Townsend Harris, George Washington vs. Evander Childs, Theodore Roosevelt vs. Stuyvesant.
- OCT. 15

- OCT. 22

Boys High Soccer Team Has Only a Few Vets

Three first-string veterans and four members of the scrub team form the nucleus around which Coach Barnes of the Boys High soccer eleven is doing his building this season. A wealth of promising newcomers has relieved the gloomy situation somewhat, but it will take a lot of hard work to develop a smooth functioning machine.

The surviving veterans of the varsity are Captain Arginsky, Peskowitz and Cohen, and the four scrubs who seem certain to advance include Tax, Monat, Sillen and Mazlow. The scarcity of seasoned material did not prevent Manager George Dickinson from arranging one of the hardest schedules the Red and Black booters ever undertook. It follows:

Sept. 17, Brooklyn Evening; Oct. 7, Erasmus; 12, Central High of Paterson; 13, Richmond Hill; 14, Brooklyn Tech; 22, Curtis; 28, Manual; 29, New York Military Academy; Nov. 7, James Madison; 11, Textile; 15, East Side High of Paterson.

Manual Soccer Team Has Nine Veterans

Manual Training High School started soccer practice at the Parade Grounds last week. Coach "Doc" Dittberner's call for candidates was answered by about 76 players. Among the recruits were two boys who arrived in this country three years ago, Olaf Sigmund, a Norwegian, and Charles Woodale, a product of London.

The Manual team will be built around nine veterans left from last year and the two foreign additions. The veterans are: Capt. Matty Auaraz, fullback; John Johnson, back; "Swede" Olson, center forward; Joe Agar, inside right; Wiener, goal; Hagberg, back; Ed Gould, back; Graham, back, and Nordhart, linesman.

The outstanding newcomers number Charles Bickett, Dave Gorkick, West, Smith, Tilke, Priether, Jaeger, Jorgenson, Carlson, Kaufmann, Cohen, Dobbin, Schwartz, Hart, Hole, Ben Gold, Katz, Roth, Greenberg and Feinberg. Manager Walter Jones has prepared the following schedule:

Coach Penfound Out To Elevate Adelphi In Schoolboy Sports

Frederick W. Penfound, new head of the physical training department of Adelphi Academy, has had vast experience as a coach, and as a result the Brown and Gold looks for a big improvement in all of its athletic teams this season. Mr. Penfound graduated from Ohio State University in 1921 with the degree of Bachelor of Arts. He later took a course at Columbia University and at the completion of his work in 1923 had a master's degree conferred upon him and a professional diploma in hygiene.

Southampton High Has Ten Veterans, but Must Fight To Retain Suffolk Title

(Special to The Eagle.) Southampton, L. I., Sept. 17—While he has uncovered many promising candidates in the practice sessions, Coach Richard H. Smith of Southampton has no easy task developing a team capable of upholding the traditions of the past, as the other schools are better fortified than heretofore. The squad is prepared to wage a mighty fight to retain its laurels as the premier scholastic

Lynbrook High Has Five Veterans Left From 1926

Lynbrook, L. I., Sept. 17—More than 70 candidates responded to Coach James J. Carter's call for football candidates at Lynbrook High School last week. The generous response greatly pleased the mentor, as he has but five varsity gridlers left from 1926. The students realize what Carter is up against, and they are determined to strive their mightiest to help him out of his present difficulties.

So many of the newcomers have shown to advantage that the outlook is not nearly so dubious as it was at first. The players are a hustling lot and have been quick to learn the change in the rules. The newcomers are an ambitious lot and Coach Carter has been compelled to caution them a number of times not to over-duce their training.

The veterans upon whom much depends include Captain Bernie O'Rourke, Doug Crickard, Jack Crickard, Wilbur Holz and Al Moriarty. Six new players must be developed to round out a strong team and after looking over his squad Coach Carter and his assistant, Coach Schardt, are inclined to believe that the task will not be so hard as it appears. At the initial meeting Coach Carter insisted on his charges paying strict attention to the training rules if the team is to be a success. He threatened those who fail to live up to the rules with dismissal from the team. He laid stress on the fact that sportsmanship was more important than a championship.

Hickville Grid Team To Have 10 Veterans

(Special to The Eagle.) Hicksville, L. I., Sept. 17—Coach E. P. Yutler of the Hicksville High football eleven has ten veterans to fall back on for the approaching campaign. The seasoned campaigners include Captain Morselli, Millevolte, Bergold, Israelowitz, Stolz, Valentine, Bauer, Ruel, Klwanosky and Humphreys.

The players are rapidly rounding into tip-top shape for the hard season. A large percentage of the athletes took advantage of the vacation period to get themselves into condition. Hicksville bursts the lid off the season against Huntington here on Oct. 1. The program will conclude with a game yet to be arranged for Nov. 19. The schedule as at present constituted follows:

Oct. 1, Huntington, home; 8, Manhattan, away; 15, Great Neck, away; 22, Nassau, home; 29, Port Washington, away; Nov. 5, Westbury, home; 12, open; 19, open.

Hempstead Eleven Has Nine Vets Back

(Special to The Eagle.) Hempstead, L. I., Sept. 17—Coach Joseph H. Fay of the Hempstead High School eleven is well stocked with veterans this season. He has nine experienced campaigners to fall back on, meaning that he must unearth two new regulars to round out a well-balanced machine. The task should not be a hard one, as the capable mentor has a squad of 50 working out daily.

Charley ("Bus") Watterson is captain of the team and he makes an able leader. The other veterans include Joseph Yauch, John Wolff, Joseph Dorkins, Raymond Heather-ton, George Orth, Gordon Aronson, Charles Donnoker and Daniel Senley. Manager Kingsley Smith has prepared a nice game schedule which includes one Brooklyn, two Queens and an equal number of Manhattan schools. Bushwick is the lone borough eleven to be met, while Flushing and Richmond Hill are the Queens

THREE BORO BOYS ON MANHATTAN COLLEGE ELEVEN

Johnson, Flanagan and Roddy Seek Regular Jobs With Green and White.

The Manhattan College football squad is slowly but surely rounding into form since the beginning of practice two weeks ago. Coach "Brit" Patterson, dynamic personality, has set a merry pace for his charges. Patterson is a former all-American tackle of Washington and Jefferson.

About 45 candidates have reported for practice to date, among whom are some players of last year's squad, including Captain Neil Cohalan, Ed Johnson and Ed Flanagan, the latter an ex-Brooklyn Prep luminary and Bill Roddy, former St. John's linesman.

Among other members who have yet to arrive are Mike Hayes, all-around athlete and captain of Manhattan's baseball team, who is laid up with an injured shoulder, and Taddy O'Gorman, one of the best ball passers among the centers of the Eastern colleges.

Tom Skidd and "Aim" Barbada are promising backs. The latter is noted for his similarity to Carl Mays by the manner in which he heaves his forwards. The "Aim" fits him well.

Manhattan College teams have been noted in the past for their courage on all occasions, and the same fighting spirit will be prevalent this year.

Smith, Flynn, Cronin, O'Brien, Burke are other outstanding members of the team. The complete schedule arranged by Manager Richardson follows: Oct. 1, Manhattan, home; 8, Manhattan, away; 15, Manhattan, home; 22, Manhattan, home; 29, Manhattan, home; Nov. 5, Manhattan, home; 12, Manhattan, home; 19, Manhattan, home.

NEW ADDITIONS TO SCHEDULE.
Manager Joe Duffy of the Brooklyn Evening High School football eleven has added two new rivals to this season's program. The newcomers are Nyack High and Brooklyn City College. The latter is gracing the gridiron for the first time this season. The collegians also have Thomas Jefferson down for a game.

BURY THE HATCHET.
Another old sore has been healed. Relations between Boys High and New Utrecht, which had been strained for several years, have been ironed out. The teams buried the hatchet and are now smoking the pipe of peace. They will square off on the gridiron on Saturday, Oct. 8.

COACHES HIS BROTHER.
"Dutch" Connor, former head football coach of the New York Aggies, who is now serving as an assistant mentor under "Chick" Meehan of New York University, is a brother of "Smiling" Jack Connor, captain of this season's Violet eleven. "Dutch" is a newcomer on the coaching staff at N. Y. U. Several years ago he was a backfield star at New Hampshire. He was one of the greatest kickers the game ever produced.

MADISON AND MANUAL TO MEET
In line with his policy to evade soft spots, Manager Milton Torgan of James Madison has Manual Training placed on the Quentin rd. school's schedule this fall. The game is sure to prove a popular attraction.

LONG BEACH WANTS TEAM.
(Special to The Eagle.)
Long Beach, L. I., Sept. 17.—It is undecided at Long Beach High School whether to put a football team on the field this season. The talent looks presentable enough and the feeling seems to favor the fostering of such a team. A definite decision one way or the other will be forthcoming in a few days.

MADDEN AN EAGER LAD.
Eddie Madden, formerly one of the best athletes ever turned out of St. Francis Prep. who failed to live up to expectations in baseball at Holy Cross College this spring, his favorite pastime, is returning this fall to make up for it. He is one of the leading candidates for fame on the gridiron with the Worcesterites. Eddie has spent the summer hardening himself for the ordeal.

"Dutch" Hafner, New Grid Coach, Makes A Hit at Mineola

Mineola, L. I., Sept. 17.—Under the direction of its new coach, "Dutch" Hafner, former intercollegiate champion wrestler and captain and guard of the Springfield College eleven, Mineola High School looks for a big improvement in football this season. Upon assuming his duties last week, Coach Hafner lost no time in putting his charges through the paces. He has already demonstrated that he knows his stuff and has made a big hit with the Nassau County gridders. The team is already beginning to show the effects of the training it has received under Coach Hafner. The ends will most likely be Lehner and White, with Greenstein and Witt holding down the tackle berths. The team is assured of fine guards with Hembach, Bachel and Postisl on the job. The pivot, or center, position seems to be in capable hands with Lessing on deck.

The backfield has been materially strengthened by the addition of Mark Lyons, a running quarterback from Belleville Academy, who was a material factor in winning the championship of New Jersey in its class for his institution last season. Steve McGuire, the only four-letter athlete in the school, is available again for a halfback job and he will have Goldberg as a running mate. Dwight Jennings, a newcomer, has shown so much class that he looks like a fixture at fullback. Dave Levy is another lad who is attracting much attention. He is a linesman.

Manager Warren Dochterman is preparing a lively schedule for the team and it will be released in a few days.

Erasmus Hall Eleven Rounding Into Shape Under Coach Bross

The gridders of Erasmus are fast rounding into shape for the coming P. S. A. L. season. The Flatbush athletes open their season on Sept. 24 with James Monroe furnishing the opposition at Erasmus Hall. Coach Bill Bross is developing a strong aggregation around "Vinnie" Di Angelis, All-Scholastic back for two years. Three of last year's backfield stars are again holding down berths on the varsity eleven. The other two are Julie Leitner and Al Jacobs. Tom King is one of Coach Bross' mainstays at end. Eli Fisher, city shot putter champion, and Milt Farber are fixtures as tackles. One of the guard positions will be filled by Jerry Lichman, while the other berth is still open. Joe Roland and "Apples" Appecella, two of last year's subs, show promise of filling in the gaps on the line.

Ray Massamine and Bill Bolton have caught the eye of the Buff and Blue mentor by their good work in practice and should get into many of the games. Charley Warburton shows up well as an understudy for Julie Leitner at quarterback. Milt Mandell is making a strong bid for the vacancy on one of the flanks, while Sidney Weiner is fighting for recognition at halfback. Kemp, McAuley, McCormack, Tieper and Coffin round out the main squad.

Greenport High Grid Eleven Looks Good
(Special to The Eagle.)
Greenport, L. I., Sept. 17.—Likely looking prospects make the football situation appear particularly bright at Greenport High School this season. Coach E. J. Franklin has 17 lads of experience with which to develop his team.

Four youngsters are fighting it out for the right to man the flanks. They are Capt. Reginald Hudson, J. Salter, J. Patrick and J. Adams. Three capable tackles are on the job in R. Preston, M. Katz and M. Gruskin, and a similar number of class looking guards in G. Tutthil, F. Coyle and A. Fiedler. The team is assured of two good centers in A. Palmer and R. Pemberton.

The backfield seems to have the essential speed, charging ability and elusiveness to be a troublesome aggregation. Its leading members include F. Hulse, J. Crum, J. Fiedler, M. Schivoni and K. Wells. Manager Joseph Brooks has prepared the following schedule:
Sept. 24—Port Jefferson, home; Oct. 1, East Hampton, home; 3, Stony Brook, away; 15, Amityville, away; 22, Flushing Seconds, home; 29, Malverne, home; Nov. 6, open; 13 Mineola, away; 20 open.

Five Veterans Are Out for Manhasset Grid Eleven
(Special to The Eagle.)
Manhasset, L. I., Sept. 17.—From among five veterans and seven scrubs, W. A. Franklin, athletic director of Manhasset High School, feels confident he can develop one of the strongest scholastic football elevens on Long Island this season. The grind has started and the situation indicates a banner campaign.

Coach Franklin has three of his best ground gainers available in Capt. William Ruggiero and Karl Prewain, halfbacks, and Jack Ruggier, quarterback. Rudolph Hasty and Eddie Dair are the only linesmen back from last year. They hold sway at center and guard respectively.

AQUEDUCT, THE POPULAR TRACK, OPENS ITS GATES ON TUESDAY

All the Crack Sprinters, Save Osmand, Are in The Bayshore Handicap

By W. C. VREELAND.

AQUEDUCT, where the High-uns and the Low-uns of the turf meet and slap each other on the back and call each other by their first names in perfect comradeship, follows Belmont Park. This is the popular track.

Here the followers of the fortunes of the so-called bangtails—although they are bangtails no longer—will gather on Tuesday. On the soft velvet-like soil horses race fast and hang up records.

It means that on that day the awakening of the fall meeting, the final meeting of the Queens County Jockey Club for 1927, opens for 13 days of racing.

And the big event is really a big event because it promises to bring out some of the fastest sprinters, with the exception of Osmand, in the race for the Bayshore Handicap. This test of speed is at seven furlongs.

The Bayshore is well named, because Aqueduct practically rests on the shores of Jamaica Bay. In fact, some of the "canals" of the bay almost touch one of its gates. The breezes of Jamaica Bay sweep the track.

Happy Argo Tops the List

HAPPY ARGO tops the list with 132 pounds. It's a thousand pitiful that Osmand is not engaged in this event. It would be interesting to see these fast horses race for the title "King of the Sprinters."

There's scarcely a question in the minds of racegoers that Osmand can beat Happy Argo at one mile. But can he beat the Irish horse at six or seven furlongs?

Osmand is my favorite, much as I regard Happy Argo as a sprinter. I was the first turf scribe to point out the quality of Happy Argo in races over the short course. And when he was fairly thrown into a handicap this spring with a light weight—light in comparison with his weight of today—he looked like peaches and cream to me, especially the cream.

Better Than Trainer Believes

GOOD as I think Happy Argo is I don't believe he compares with Osmand at seven furlongs. To my notion Happy Argo is at his top form from six furlongs to six and a half. He is a splendid weight-carrier and, best of all, a true and honest horse.

Time and again Happy Argo has raced better than Max Hirsch, his trainer, has anticipated—and Max Hirsch is no dub as a trainer. I saw the Irish colt just beaten a few inches by Pompey at Saratoga, and he was so sore before the race that one wondered how far he would be beaten.

Happy Argo answered that mental query by putting up a great fight. He would have won if he had not been carried wide. Pompey, the victim of many days of poor racing luck, had a change of fortune that day. He skinned the rail, saved ground, and it was this that enabled him to nose out Happy Argo.

Splendid Field of Thoroughbreds

ROYDEN, Macaw, Byrd, Pompey, so nicely weighted that if this bunch start they will furnish a great contest. It is hard to tell which is the best of the lot. Of the three fillies—Nimba, Black Curl and Candy Queen—I like Nimba best. Candy Queen is a good hand, but I don't think she has the next race with her.

There are many other important events for Aqueduct, the chief of which is the Junior Champion for 2-year-olds. This is the first race wherein the juveniles are asked to go on mile. But this race is so far off comment regarding the entrants.

Tyson, New Robin, Practically Clinches Int. Batting Crown

With the season closing today, Al Tyson, Buffalo outfielder obtained early in the season from the New York Giants, has virtually clinched the batting championship of the International League, according to official averages that include games played Sept. 14, says the Associated Press. Tyson, recent Brooklyn Robin purchase, is clubbing the ball at a .383 pace. His closest rival, Porter of Baltimore, is 10 points behind him.

Other leading hitters are: Bissonette, Buffalo, .360; Cohen, Buffalo, .352; Gilhooly, Rochester, .348; Carlyle, Newark, .344; Elliott, Newark, .331; Alexander, Toronto, .330, and Williamson, Syracuse, .329.

Bissonette continues his versatile hitting with the greatest number of runs, 160; most safe hits, 223; most triples 20; most home runs, 30, and the greatest number of bases on hits, 394.

Carter of Buffalo, has made the most doubles, 42. Layne of Syracuse, continues to lead in stolen bases with 47, while Lemotte of Toronto, still has the lead in sacrifice hits with 35.

Jack Bentley, once with the New York Giants, is leading the International League pitchers with 11 victories and three defeats for a percentage of .780. Al Mammaux of Newark, has worked the greatest number of complete games, 29, while Mangum of Buffalo, and Brame of Jersey City, are tied with the most shutouts, five.

The pennant-winning Buffalo Bisons have demonstrated their class by topping the circuit in both team hitting and fielding. The team batting mark is .309, and the fielding percentage .971. The club has completed the most double plays, 168, Reading being closest to them in this branch of fielding with 129.

JOCKEY USES PLANE TO RACES

London, Sept. 17 (AP)—By riding in races in England and Belgium during the same afternoon, Steve Donoghue, English jockey, has achieved another record. After the 2 o'clock race at Windsor, Donoghue flew in a fast plane, reaching Croydon at 2.28 for customs formalities, after which the plane took him to Ostend. He arrived at 3:45, reaching the racecourse by automobile at 4 o'clock, in time for the 4:30 race.

Roland MacKenzie's Battles at Minikahda Should Make Him Harder Golfer to Beat

YOU may remember that this little series included, some months ago, a story of young Roland MacKenzie, the tall Washington amateur who, in his first National championship at Merion in 1924, spotted George Von Elm a lead of 8 up with 15 to play and squared the match, losing at the 37th green. Roland was unable to get by the first round at Oakmont the next year, after leading the field in the medal qualifying section. Dicky Jones stopped him. He also qualified at Baltusrol last year and lost in the first round.

Roland was somewhat discouraged. "If I could only get by the first round," said he, "I might win another match or two—who knows? But I won't know until I get by the first round."

Got By at Minikahda

Roland got by the first round in the recent amateur championship at Minikahda. And the result was the most amazing series of close bouts I ever saw in a major tournament. Some one else may recall a spin like Roland's, but not I.

Roland led off with a desperate battle with George Thomas which the tall youngster won on the 19th green, thus breaking through his three-year-old jinx. He celebrated by taking another ride the same afternoon with Dave Martin in the second of the 18-hole bouts, winning this one likewise on the 19th green.

"Gosh!" said Roland after the second fray, "they don't seem to get any easier!"

They did not. His next engagement was with the veteran Minneapolis player, Harry G. Legg, who had just stopped the 1926 champion, George Von Elm, with a great round. Mr. Legg was at least twice Roland's age, and was not inclined to give ground on his own course before anybody, youngster or otherwise.

The outcome was a match that went to the final or 36th green, Roland winning, 1 up.

"And I should call that much easier," explained Roland.

Then Came Chick Evans

All he incurred by this notable victory was Chick Evans, who was out to win that championship if he could. It was a ding-dong battle, with Roland up five times and Chick up four times, the last time at the critical place, the 37th green, where Chick, after saving his bacon with a six-foot putt at the 36th hole, rolled one in for a 3 from 18 feet away, and Roland missed from a dozen feet.

Two 18-hole matches that went 19 holes, a 36-hole match that went to the 36th, and another that went to the 37th, marked Roland's breakage through the first round. He won't find things much tougher than that from now on, and I look for him to be a harder golfer to beat.

The only string I can recall comparable to this occurred in the National public links championship of 1923 at East Potomac Park, Washington, when Raymond J. MacAuliffe of Buffalo in four consecutive 18-hole engagements defeated Fraser 1 up 19, Lloyd 1 up 20 and Dolp 1 up, and lost to Witham, 1 up 10. These were all over the short route and were astonishingly grim battles.

Yankees Meet White Sox In Twin Bill Today

The game between the Chicago White Sox and the Yankees, scheduled for Monday at the Yankee Stadium will be played as part of a doubleheader today, the first game commencing at 2 o'clock. There will be no game on Monday.

PENN WILL HAVE STRONG GRID TEAM

Seagirt, N. J., Sept. 17 — The scramble for positions on the varsity eleven of the University of Pennsylvania football team continues unabated, leaving the coaching staff in a doubtful frame of mind concerning the lineup that will face Franklin and Marshall next Saturday in the opening game of the season.

The rise of a number of sophomores who played stellar roles on the first year team of last season has made the selection of a starting lineup all the more difficult. John Utz, a strapping 200-pounder from Wilkes-Barre High School, was moved from the fourth team to the first during the course of a week. His ability to open gaping holes for the backs to rush through and his splendid defensive work won him a position on the varsity.

The improvement of Olexy at center, a position entirely new to him, was such during the week that he may retain the post, although Westgate, first substitute to Jack Butler last season and favorite for the position, has displayed more than the average ability.

Johnny Kushner, a substitute center last season and who was converted into a guard during spring practice, is making a valiant try for the other guard post.

The tackle positions will remain unchanged from last year, with Captain Hake and John Smith far above the other candidates. Schneider and Downey will probably be selected from among the six candidates as the first string substitutes. Folwell Scull has one end position won, while the other is still in some doubt, although Ralph Monk has been playing the position regularly. Joe Schaaf and Schainman, not to mention Foster Sanford and Miller Moore, are giving Monk a real battle for the other berth.

With one exception the backfield will be the same as started last season. Brill, at one of the halves, a freshman last season, is the only newcomer among the four. Paul Murphy will start at quarterback with Brill and Paul Scull at the halves and Alfred Wascolonis at fullback.

OPENING GAMES NEXT WEEK WILL SHOW EFFECT OF NEW FOOTBALL RULES

Grid Coaches Will Have To Experiment Right Off The Bat With New Rules

By GEORGE CURRIE.

KNOTE ROCKNE, Jesse Hawley, Gilmour Dobie, Arnold Horween, "Biff" Jones and about 99 44-100ths of the other college football coaches of the country, having predicted that the rules committee has just about shot the grand old game of American rugby full of holes, this week get down to the serious business of proving it.

It will be a different game which the old grad will watch, this fall. Consequently, more than usual interest attaches to the first game of the season. The coaches will have to experiment right off the bat, so to speak. Otherwise they will not find out in time whether the rules are as full of holes as they think the committee has made the game itself.

New Yorkers next Saturday will be given an opportunity to form their own tentative conclusions. Columbia will play Vermont, N. Y. U. will entertain Niagara and Fordham will make her bow under Major Frank Cavanaugh's guidance against Bethany.

What we are likely to see is more of a man who would like to guess.

Reasons for Moving Goal Posts Back

In the first place, the goal posts have been moved 10 yards back of the goal line. This means that henceforth a 15-yard drop-kick will have to go 25 yards to score a field goal.

The authorities suddenly began to fear injuries caused by slamming a ball-carrier into one of the posts. It has taken them a good many years to arrive at this judgment of Solomon, and one suspects that an even more persuasive reason for the shifting of the posts has been the occasional though crucial forward pass which has innocently grounded itself after hitting the crossbar, as, for instance, Snively's pass in the Harvard-Princeton game of a few years ago. With the posts 10 yards back it is extremely unlikely that a team about to score will find its march down the field frustrated by any such unhappy anticlimax.

Another important feature of the goal post shift concerns punting out from behind one's goal line. It is sufficient strain placed upon one man's shoulders to require him to kick out from behind his goal line. The goal posts have always been an unfair obstacle, although the times they have blocked such a kick have been remarkably few.

Found Out How To Beat Shift Rule

After coaches without a good shift raged for years against those who had one, the rules committee finally has acted to legislate the creeping shift from the game. All players on shift must now come to what is beautifully called an "approximately one-second dead stop" before putting the ball in play. In cases of doubt, the officials are to slap on the 15-yard penalty.

Well, the Western Conference, which has annually started from Notre Dame, even went further and made it two seconds, which would virtually make the shift useless. But—

They had a rule against the shift in motion before the ball was snapped back and forth. It was found out how to beat it. So did Army. So did Harvard. So did every man jack of them. And it was always left to the officials to decide whether the "no-no" had been violated or not. That was why we had that glaring exhibition in the Army-Navy game of last year when Wilson was called back after a long run because the umpire thought he had detected illegal motion on a play that was most assuredly legal. West Point had nerve enough to run the play on again from a 15-yard penalty. This was the case in that play in motion.

the side by the fumbler touching the ball, but it may not be advanced from the point of recovery.

This was obviously intended to hit at such a situation as that which arose in last year's Army-Navy game, when Harbold, galloping down under the kick, recovered Hamilton's fumble and raced over for a touchdown.

A good many thought he had kicked the bounding ball forward before scooping it up, and the discussion which raged after the game was as heated on this point as was the debate over whether Dempsey fouled Sharkey.

"If thine eye offend thee, pluck it out." The rules committee promptly decided that such debates after a game were unseemly. Away with the chance for the touchdown! But the funny thing about this rule is that it in no way prevents a repetition of the disputed play, for all that the committee acted so radically to avert it.

An end tearing downfield under a kick might conceivably and wholly accidentally give the ball further forward motion before falling on it. The only change, then, is that he can't score a touchdown.

But suppose he recovers the fumble behind his opponent's goal line. What is it then, a touchdown or a touch-back? Touchdown probably. But the rule will tend to make the players let the ball roll, which is bad football, no matter how you look at it.

Back No Longer Need Fear Fumble

An even more confusing rule concerns the lateral or backward pass. A backward or lateral pass grounded is a dead ball. The snap-back, of course, is excepted. The ball goes to the side which made the pass at the point where it went dead or out of bounds. The play goes for another down and the ball changes over on a fourth down.

However, if a backward pass is made by the side which did not put the ball in play, that side retains the ball at the point where it struck the ground or went out of bounds. And it will be first down, 10 yards to go.

A back surrounded by ravening defensive forwards who have come through to stop the play no longer needs to take a desperate chance on a fumble. He needs only to let the ball hit the ground, provided he has not taken a direct pass from center. And it is dead and safe. Of course, he will lose yards. But possession of the ball is the most precious privilege of attack in football. It is all-important. There is bound to be a lot of pop-eyed play around such a rule as this.

WANDERERS DOWN GIANTS IN CLOSE KICKING DUEL, 5-3

Losers Stage Rally Which Is Staved Off by Last-Minute Goal.

The Brooklyn Wanderers defeated the New York Giants by 5 to 3 in an American League game at Starlight Park yesterday after a bitter struggle, before 3,500 people.

The Wanderers had the best of the play in the first half, and after leading by 2 to 1 at the interval, kept up a spirited attack upon resuming and ran their advantage to 4 to 1 before the Giants staged a desperate rally and cut down the Brooklynites' commanding lead to 4 to 3. The Giants had many fine chances to even up in the closing minutes, but great work by Steve Smith between the uprights prevented them scoring. A wonderful goal by Billy Morris just before the final whistle enabled the Wanderers to score their second American League victory.

Only ten minutes had elapsed when the first goal came. Fabian falling to hold a stinging drive from Adair, the ball slipping through his hands into the net. Billy Adair was responsible for the second goal for the Wanderers for his fine center was headed into the net by Johnny Nelson.

Toward half time, the New Yorkers got better together and following some fine combinations by O'Brien and Brown, Hauesier crashed the ball into the net.

Curtis and Nelson added further goals for Brooklyn. The Giants rallied strongly resulting in O'Brien and Gruenwald getting through. The lineup:

Brooklyn Wanderers (5).	Pos.	New York Giants (3).

Eagle's Weekly Football Contest

Test of Skill and Erudition of Gridiron Fans to Be Rewarded Each Week—Choose the Winners and Scores of Ten of Next Saturday's Games and Tell the Reason Why—Mail Your Letters to Football Contest Editor, Brooklyn Eagle.

NEXT Saturday's the day! The "Are you ready?" of the referee, followed by the shrill of his whistle, will usher in another football season which gives promise of being as thrilling as any other in the past, or even more so, due to the innovations of the game. The crowd will rise en masse and cheer itself hoarse at the opening kickoff. That is an integral part of football, but—

Will Columbia beat Vermont in the opener? How many touchdowns will Chick Meehan's veteran N. Y. U. eleven score against Niagara? Why should Major Cavanaugh's Fordham team defeat little Bethany College? How will Ray Lynch's Red St. John's team fare at Bethlehem, Pa., against the budding engineers of Lehigh? Will Norwich upset Jess Hawley's rhythmic Dartmouth eleven? Etc., etc.

Those are the questions to answer. Pick the winners, scores and explain yourself in 50 words and win one of the prizes offered by The Eagle in its newest and most interesting sports contest. Between picking the football winners and the eventual National League champion the cobwebs will be brushed away from the gray matter of any true sporting buck. The prizes for picking Saturday's winners will be awarded for games of Oct. 1.

Each subsequent week ten leading games of the East or of national importance will be offered to Eagle readers to figure out. All you do is pick the winners and the scores and write 50 words explaining your selections and add your name and address. The contest is open to all, except employees of The Eagle and their families. Answers must be in the hands of the Football Contest Editor by Friday, 12 o'clock midnight.

A form, the use of which is optional, is printed below. In the event the form is not used, writing must be on one side of the paper only and legibly written, as an illegible script may be tossed out. Just write down winners, scores and then add 50 words of explanation. Mere indications are insufficient; the scores and reasons are mandatory. Address all mail to Football Contest Editor, Brooklyn Eagle.

The winners will be picked each week on the greatest number of correct results, based on the outcome of the Saturday contests in question. The explanation will also be taken into serious consideration. Each participant is restricted to one answer. Don't forget to write 50 words qualifying your opinions, and join in the "Football Championship" contest.

The prizes to be awarded this week are:

Two tickets for the Columbia-Union game and two for the N. Y. U.-West Virginia Wesleyan game, both to be played on Oct. 1. The winner will have first choice.

Saturday's games which have been selected to open the contest follow:

Columbia	Vermont	Dartmouth	Norwich
N. Y. U.	Niagara	Cornell	Clarkson Tech
Fordham	Bethany	Brown	R. I. State
St. John's	Lehigh	Penn	F. and M.
Army	Boston U.	Syracuse	Hobart

Fill in the probable scores, state reasons why in 50 words and mail to Football Contest Editor, Brooklyn Eagle.

St. Francis Prep's Soccer Outlook Bright

Since the beginning of the fall semester interest has been increased in soccer at St. Francis Prep because football has been dropped in favor of the booting sport. The Franciscans have always enjoyed a high ranking among the scholastic soccer aggregations of the boro, but this season the outlook is brighter than ever before.

Frank "Duke" Dennen shapes up as the big defensive ace of the eleven. "Terrible Terry" McGuire will also be back at his post on the line, while much is expected of Jack Conway, whose playing at inside right caused quite a stir last season. Bill Terry, "Jock" Summerville, Peter Molomo, "Lefty" Haverlin, and "Bull" McDonald are other seasoned campaigners who have reported to Coach Brother Philip.

The complete schedule for the team will be released shortly.

St. John's College Star Is Injured

Johnny Clynick, former three-letter man at Manual Training High School, suffered a broken shoulder in the scrimmage staged by the St. John's College grid squad staged yesterday at Carey Field.

Clynick's accident is the first serious injury that has visited the St. John's gridders. He had all but clinched one of the backfield jobs.

At first it was thought that Clynick's injury was slight, but an X-ray taken last night showed that the shoulder was broken. He will be out for six weeks.

Bolden Wins Three Races at Maspeth

(Special to The Eagle.)

Maspeth, L. I., Sept. 17—Plenty of thrills and spills featured the motorcycle races here today. Charles Bolden, East New York Motorcycle Club, garnered the honors by capturing three out of six events on the newly constructed track at the Metropolitan Heights Fair Grounds.

The ten-mile professional sweep-stake saw Ben Ragatelli while leading a field of four machines by a lap and a half take a bad spill in rounding a curve on the fifth lap. Before he could get back on the track Jack Welton gamed the lead. Ragatelli hurt his wrist and finished third. Welton's time was 9:10. Summaries:

Brooklyn Cricket Club May Annex Pennant

Montclair, N. J., Sept. 17—By more than doubling the score of the Newark Cricket Club, in their New York and New Jersey Association championship game here today, the Brooklyn club won the match by a margin of 75 runs, on totals of 139 to 64, thus giving the Brooklyn a splendid chance to win this year's pennant.

Should Brooklyn defeat or draw with Columbia Oval in their next match, it means gaining the championship; but should they lose the match they will be tied with the team of the Crescent Athletic Club.

lated or not. That was why we had that glaring exhibition in the Army-Navy game of last year when Wilson was called back after a long run because the umpire thought he had detected illegal motion on a play that was most assuredly legal. West Point had nerve enough to run the play off again, from a 15-yard penalty. This time, with the snift clearly in motion before the snap-back, Wilson broke away and got all the yardage of his previous run, plus the 15 yards. He got away with it.

As it is now, the officials will have to count "one-two-three-four" every time a shift is started and halted. To add to their troubles they will have to keep a check on the time of the huddle, which is limited to "less than 15 seconds," and will have to keep a further check on the time of starting plays, which is limited to less than 30 seconds. Not without some reason has Beckne suggested that each official will have to go on the field equipped with a certified public accountant and a stenographer.

Approved Rules With Their Fingers Crossed.

Many coaches have approved the rules publicly. But under their breath they add "with my fingers crossed."

One time-honored tradition of the game has been ruthlessly discarded. That is the recovered fumbled punt and run through the other team for a touchdown. When a punt is fumbled it may be recovered by the kicking side, which has thus been put on the ball is the most precious privilege of attack in football. It is all-important. There is bound to be a lot of pop-eyed play around such a rule as this.

And How About Those Blocked Kicks?

The conservatives, men who recall "Ducky" Pond's great dash downfield with a muddy ball from little Jake Stafford's fumbled catch, will snort over the new rules. The men who recall with glee Princeton's long and heroic line of Poes and De Witts and Sammy Whites, who made history on fumbled backward passes, will fume and get red in the face over that inhibition against advancing the ball beyond the point of recovery.

A large part of the thrill of a ticklish play is ended. To recover a fumble deep in your own territory or at midfield and go weaving through the other team for brave dashes to the goal line, with all the accompanying tacklers helpless to dive after you, will always be for an old grad one of the largest moments in a life no matter how large or how small.

Harvard started her reign over Yale, beginning in 1912, when "Bob" Storer recovered a fumbled lateral pass and scored a touchdown. That wouldn't go this fall.

Incidentally, one marvels at the committee's restraint in stopping the rule at lateral and backward passes. How did they come to overlook blocked kicks?

Westbury, L. I., Sept. 17—An outfit of British players from the Army-In-India defeated a strong Eastcott team, 11 to 5, here today on International Field at the Meadow Brook Club. Only intimating its power in the first half, this side drawn from the invading squad proved quite equal to the task of subduing the Anglo-American Eastcotts. The score was tied at 4 all when the half-time gong sounded.

By winning this game, the British earn the right to face an even tougher four, the Hurricanes, winners of the championship last year. But on the form shown in the second half of today's contest, the Army-In-India should give the highly rated Hurricanes a strong battle on Wednesday.

The late-coming polo crowd saw a British player in action, who previously has performed only in practice matches. He was Lt. Humphrey Guinness, a lean but stalwart man, and he got tremendous power into his shots.

Guinness fitted in well with the three members of the British team, who gave such a sterling exhibition in the second of the international matches. The addition of this new player switched Maj. Eric G. Atkinson, the international captain, forward to No. 3. Capt. Richard George played at No. 1 as usual and Capt. John P. Denning was at No. 2. Lineup:

Army-in-India (11) Pos.	Bastcott (6).
Capt. R. George... No. 1...	A. C. Schwartz
Capt. J. P. Denning... No. 2...	E. A. S. Hopping
Maj. E. G. Atkinson No. 3...	Earle W. Hopping
Lt. H. P. Guinness Back... J. A. E. Traill	J. A. E. Traill

Score by Chukkers.

Army-in-India	1	1	1	2	2	3	2-11
Eastcott	1	2	1	0	1	0	0-5

Goals—George, 2; Bastcott, 5; Guinness, 2; Atkinson, 1; Traill, 2; Schwartz, 2; Hopping, 1.

Referee—Capt. Wesley J. White. Time—8 chukkers of 7½ minutes.

ECKERSALL NAMED AS LIKELY THIRD MAN IN BIG BOUT

Chicago, Sept. 17 (AP)—The possibility that Walter Eckersall, Chicago newspaperman, former all-American football star and nationally known gridiron official, will referee the Dempsey-Tunney heavyweight championship fight developed today out of an atmosphere of hectic preparation for the "battle of the three millions."

While no official authority was given to the suggestion that Eckersall be the third man in the ring next Thursday night at Soldiers Field, it was learned definitely that his name is under consideration. It came as a surprise to most of the experts, who accepted the view that "Eckie," if chosen, would be a compromise candidate.

Eckersall is eligible for the role, his connection with professional boxing, officially, has been chiefly as a timekeeper rather than a ring arbiter. However, he also has had considerable experience as a referee. His selection, it is understood, would be satisfactory to both the Dempsey and Tunney camps.

Tex Rickard, promoter in fact although not officially, goes golfing with the confident air of a business man who regards the greatest sporting spectacle of all time—a $3,000,000 "gate" and crowd of 150,000 to 160,000—as an assured thing.

Just what figure the advance sale has reached continues a matter of speculation. It is believed to be well over the $2,000,000 mark, but Rickard refuses to give any exact statement of it, except to say all the top price tickets, the $40 pasteboards, are gone.

MISS SYNDICATE WINS PRESIDENT'S SPEEDBOAT CUP

Washington, Sept. 17 (AP)—While President Coolidge watched from his yacht, the Mayflower, Mrs. Delphine Dodge Cromwell drove "Miss Syndicate" to victory today in the feature event of the annual speedboat regatta on the Potomac River and won the President's cup for a year.

"Miss Syndicate" took both heats this afternoon, after following "Greenwich Folly," driven by George H. Townsend, across the line in the first heat yesterday. "Greenwich Folly" ranked second in point standing.

For the second straight year, "Miss Okeechobee," owned by Mrs. W. J. Connors, took the only heat for the secretary of the Navy cup. She averaged 52.314 miles per hour over the twenty mile course. Secretary Wilbur watched the event from his yacht.

Miss Syndicate also won the Dodge Memorial Trophy, leading this afternoon as she had in two heats yesterday. Greenwich Folly came in second. Neither craft competed with Miss Okeechobee for the Secretary of the Navy Cup.

In the first of today's heats for the President's Cup, Miss Syndicate averaged 52.170 per hour over the 15-mile course, and in the final her speed was 51.255. In the first heat Baby Chick, with Bernard Smith at the wheel, placed second, with Sister Syn, driven by Fritz Hof Erlerson, third. In the final heat Greenwich Folly was second and Baby Chick third.

Ex-Scholastic Net Star Beats Brother for Title

Hec Fink defeated his brother, Joe Fink, 1-6, 5-7, 6-2, 6-4, 8-6, in the final round of the Brooklyn Tennis Tournament yesterday at Highland Park. Hec Fink was a member of the Richmond Hill High School tennis team last year and two years ago won the Queensboro championship.

New Utrecht Soccer Team Has Nine Vets

Coach Sig Yudel has been putting the New Utrecht High School soccer team through brisk workouts all week and his efforts are already beginning to bear fruit. The Green and White booters loom up as a formidable aggregation that will have much to say about the city title. Nine veterans form the nucleus around which the reconstruction work is being done. Some of the veterans are uneasy as several of the newcomers in the squad of fifty are showing to great advantage.

The seasoned campaigners number among them Stanley Rudis, Kaminsky, Steinberg, Holpert, Berger, Mostero, Gottlieb, Sirota and Sam Gallan. Among the newcomers Cerota stands out as the brightest prospect. He has been very much in evidence throughout the practice sessions.

Manager Harold Garber has prepared an attractive schedule for the Bensonhurst booters. It follows: Oct. 5, Poly Prep; 8, Thomas Jefferson; 15, Seward Park; 22, Bushwick; 29, Alexander Hamilton; Nov. 5, Flushing; 8, Richmond Hill.

Games with James Madison, Erasmus, Manual and Boys' High are in the making.

RITOLA CAPTURES TEN-MILE TITLE

Three Dual Winners Turn Up at Richmond Co. Meet.

Willie Ritola, Finnish-America A. C. long-distance runner, captured the national 10-mile A. A. U. championship run, the feature event of the second annual Richmond County track and field championships, held yesterday at Curtis Field, in the good time of 53 minutes 36.4-5 seconds.

Willie completely outclassed the field of 14 runners, starting on a fairly fast track in weather better suited for swimming than for a 50-lap trip around Curtis' dirt course. Four times the Finn lapped his field, taking the lead at the start. All but three finished.

Two life-long pals, George Beach, Georgetown, and Ed Knoblock, University of Pittsburg, ran the closest and the fastest race of the afternoon in the 120-yard low hurdles. Beach made the faster time in the trial heats but in the final spurt Knoblock leaped across the tape in one of those story book finishes. The two boys came very close to a record, Knoblock finishing the 120 yards in 12.4-5 seconds.

Frank F. Benedict, the flying cop of Staten Island, showed the way in the 100-yard dash, in the fast time of 10.2-5. He repeated his victory in the furlong dash.

Fred Yater, New York A. C., outdistanced his rivals in the quarter-mile and half-mile runs. E. Weatherdon, another Wingfoot trackster, won both the shotput and the running high jump.

(Special to The Eagle.)
Amityville, L. I., Sept. 17—Compelled to build an entire new team as none of his veterans are back, Coach E. Townsend Bragaw of the Amityville High School football eleven has a tough task ahead of him. The largest boys were singled out and Coach Bragaw will develop his team from among them.

Write for a 3-day test

This will tell you of a delightful new way to banish afternoon "let-downs." To keep you at your best all day. Alert. Energetic. Purposeful. Now modern science offers you a natural means to keep you "hitting on all six"—every minute of the day. A way that picks you up almost instantly. Both mentally and physically.

It is a delicious new food-drink called Ovaltine. Not an artificial stimulant. But a quick building-up beverage. Doctors advise it.

Thousands of successful people everywhere now drink Ovaltine regularly at home. In their offices. At soda fountains. It rejuvenates. It sets tired minds a-sparkle. We urge you to make a 3-day test.

Cause of loginess—How Ovaltine overcomes

Nine times out of ten, mental and physical "let-downs" are due to overstrained nerves or digestive unrest—or both.

Delicious Ovaltine instantly overcomes this trouble. This is why:

FIRST—It digests very quickly. Even in cases of impaired digestion.

SECOND—It supplies your system with certain health-building essentials which are often missing from your daily fare. One cup of Ovaltine has actually more food value than 12 cups of beef extract.

THIRD—Ovaltine has the unusual power of digesting 4 to 5 times its own weight of other foods you eat. Hence digestion goes on speedily and efficiently. Quick assimilation follows which is restoring to the entire body. Frayed nerves are soothed. Your mind clears and your body responds. You become alert, both mentally and physically.

Doctors recommend

You will like the flavor of Ovaltine. Unlike any drink you have ever tasted. It contains no drugs. It is the special food properties of Ovaltine—and absolutely nothing else—that bring its wonderful results and popularity. In use in Switzerland for over 30 years. Now in universal use in England and her colonies. More than 20,000 doctors recommend it. Not only as a quick "pick-up" beverage, but because of its special dietetic properties, they also recommend it for sleeplessness, nerve-strain, malnutrition, backward children and the aged.

A 3-day test

Drink a cup or glass of Ovaltine whenever you feel low or nervously tired. See how quickly it picks you up. There is a new zest to your work—to all your daily activities. That is the experience of most Ovaltine users. All druggists sell Ovaltine in 4 sizes for home use. Or they can mix it for you at the soda fountain. But to let you try it we will send a 3-day introductory package for 10 cents to cover cost of packing and mailing. Just send in the coupon with 10 cents.

ST. LOUIS FANS DESERTING CARDS IN THEIR SLUMP

Anti-Climax Following World Series Victory and the Radio Ascribed as Causes.

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 17—All through their series with the Robins last week, it seemed as though the Louis fans were not showing a proper amount of interest in the Cardinals. ## GIANTS AND CUBS STILL IN THE WAY OF PIRATE SUCCESS

Leaders Have Eight Games With Rivals—Beat Cards 14 Out of 22.

By COLLIER CAIN.

It was just a year ago at this time that the four Western clubs, all in the first division and all pennant contenders, were in the East on the last lap of the race. And they were getting a warm reception from the second division teams. Three of them were put out of the race and the Cardinal champs barely staggered through. Boston beat every one of them. The Giants hammered them and the Robins and the Phillies

"It took me 33 years to get an ace," said Andrews. "Near 10 and year out I kept hoping for one, but though I would come near, I never succeeded. Last summer Francis Quimet and Roland Mackenzie were scheduled to play a 36-hole match at the Yale Club. I didn't go to see the morning round, and when Campbell Smyth called me up at my course—the New Haven Country Club—and asked me to go over for the afternoon round I was doubtful. "It looks like rain," I said. "I don't think they'll play." "Well, bring your clubs along," said he. "Maybe we can sneak in a few holes if they don't play." "I objected, but he insisted; so finally I took my clubs and drove over. It turned out that the Quimet-Mackenzie match was called off. But the sky cleared up later and Smyth and I went out. "At the ninth hole, where you play across water, the cup being 225 yards from the back tee that day, I hit a ball with a long carry. We heard a crashing sound. "I believe you hit the pin," said my partner. "In that case there's no telling where the blasted ball is," I replied.

LEVINE, WITTMER OUT FOR PLACES ON TIGER ELEVEN

Ex-Erasman and Southamptton Boy to Make Strong Bid for Berths as Regulars.

(Special to The Eagle.)
Princeton, N. J., Sept. 17.—The 1927 football season at Princeton was officially inaugurated last Thursday afternoon, when 53 candidates presented themselves to Coach William W. Roper for a short welcoming talk and a light drill.

Princeton suffered from the usual misfortune of hot weather, starting the initial practice with a temperature on University Field of 98 degrees. Roper confined the session to limbering-up exercises and a light drill in the fundamentals. He had hoped to hold two practices daily, but the heat wave may put restrictions on the work until the players get more used to their strenuous assignments.

The Tiger mentor has ten letter men on hand, but only two of these are at the center of the line, from which such stars of the 1926 team as Capt. John Davis and Harry Melisahn of Brooklyn will be sorely missed. Besides the varsity men, "Chuck" Howe and Jack French, Stan Keek, line mentor, counts heavily on last year's freshman team which produced such worthy replacements as Bill Barfield, the captain, and Sam Levine, a former Erasmus player. Levine has a heavy assignment to hold up the tradition of Brooklyn linemen at Princeton, but he kept in for it during the summer by driving a heavy truck.

The best Allied positions on the Tiger eleven thus far are the two ends. One surety is Capt. Charley Moeser, who has won a letter for two years in that position. Other promising candidates are New Lawler, who showed up to such advantage in the letter games last fall, and Johnny Stinson, brother to two former Nassau stars.

It turned out that the weather was broiling. The home folk kept their coats on—it would have been terrible form to have done anything else—and fared not so badly. But poor Chick fairly melted. His game was affected. Thus Bruce Pearce, the left-handed Australian, whom he should have beaten, carried him to the nineteenth hole.

When Chick went into a bunker close to the green on the nineteenth, he finally rebelled against sartorial form and tore off his jacket. But too late. His nerves were too jangled and he didn't make a successful shot out. He lost the hole and the match. Once when Roger Wethered was considering coming to the United States he faced a dark dilemma. He was willing to play without a coat, but he thought, "what will I do about my braces?"

Roger didn't want to appear before American galleries with his suspenders showing. On the other hand he was unwilling to take them off and depend on a belt. He didn't come that year, anyway. But one day he tried playing without a coat and without braces. It happened to be the day that, on a hole measuring more than 450 yards, he holed a long iron shot for a 2.

Tiger eleven thus far are the two ends. One surety is Capt. Charley Moeser, who has won a letter for two years in that position. Other promising candidates are New Lawler, who showed up to such advantage in the letter games last fall, and Johnny Stinson, brother to two former Nassau stars.

In the backfield Dan Caulkins, star quarter, and Jake Slagle, triple threat wonders, are lost, as well as Joe Prendergast and Jimmy Bridges. Mike Miles, giant defensive fullback, is alone confident of a berth.

Other promising aspirants are Phil Strubing and Bill Scarlett for quarterback and Ed Wittmer for one-half, with Earl Baruch in Slagle's position.

Wittmer was lost last year when he broke his leg in pre-season practice. The Southampton (L. I.) boy is the younger brother of Al Wittmer, who is now head line coach. Besides him and Jake Slagle, who will help with the backfield this season, the Princeton mentors include Head Coach Bill Roper, Trainer Keene Fitzpatrick, Jack Winn, Stan Keek and the faithful Net Poe.

The Princeton schedule is as follows:
Oct. 1, Amherst; Oct. 8, Lehigh; Oct. 15, Washington and Lee; Oct. 22, Cornell at Ithaca; Oct. 29, William and Mary; Nov. 5, Ohio State; Nov. 12, Yale at New Haven.

KING MOST VALUABLE.

The most valuable player award in the Western Association has been decided by the official scorers of the league in favor of John King, veteran outfielder of the Joplin Miners. His name was on every ballot turned in, though not first on all of them. Joe Schultz, Topeka manager, was runner-up to King, but three votes behind the Miner. It was a case of youth being served—not. King is 40 years of age and Schultz is well along in his thirties.

HAAS OUT FOR SEASON.

Bruno Haas, St. Paul outfielder, is out for the remainder of the season. He suffered an injury to a knee-cap some time ago and has been advised by physicians that he must give the leg a complete rest for an indefinite period.

of means, depending upon whether it results for or against the Cardinals. But the question seems to be one of getting the customers into the park. The attendance, while it doubtless will give the Cardinal owners a fair margin of profit at the end of the year, must be disappointing to Sam Breadon, who expected huge returns after his club won the last National League pennant race and humbled the Yankees in the 1926 World's Series.

Radio May Keep Some Fans from Park.

Attendance figures at St. Louis this year will probably not reach the high water mark set by the Cardinal rooters in 1926. In many ways, the slump, if any, is a natural reaction from the World Series hysteria on the banks of the old Mississippi last fall. After waiting 40 years for one of those baseball classics, St. Louis finally landed one and that was that. The subsequent season is, in a sense, a bit of anti-climax.

Then too, there's the radio. No fewer than three stations broadcast daily at Sportsman's Park. Doubtless there are a great many St. Louisans who'd prefer to tune in KFVE, WSBF or KMOX on the loud speaker, park themselves in a rocker and with a pitcher—of ice water—close by, meditate on the folly of a hot trolley ride to the ball park.

An Expert Looks Between the Bars.

As a general thing, winners of cash prizes in newspaper competitions have invalid mothers and about 14 younger brothers and sisters to support. His or her heartfelt appreciation of the dough which enabled him to outfit the whole family with new shoes or buy gasoline for the family flivver makes first rate human interest copy.

Wherefore, it is refreshing to consider the winner of the St. Louis spasm of the country-wide Babe Ruth All-star team contest. He who dragged down the high cash prize of $100 is Peter Kunkel, otherwise No. 28,923 of the Missouri State Penitentiary. He is serving a six-year sentence for robbery, hasn't seen a ball game this year—naturally—and has only seen a few in his young life.

No. 28,923 did not become a real fan until he found himself on the inside looking out. In an adjoining cell is the manager of the prison team and an outfielder of the penitentiary first team. He discovered he had to get interested in baseball or lay back and be a wall flower in the conversation.

So, No. 28,923 studied the sporting pages, listened to the broadcasting on Sunday afternoons, picked a rattling fine all-star team and now finds himself with cigarette money for a couple of years.

Stone walls do not a grandstand make but No. 28,923 seems to have done pretty well.

Orsatti Reversed the Usual Order.

Ernest Orsatti, the recruit outfielder who has been given a lot of recent work in the Cardinal garden, stands unique among ball players—theans. The usual order of such things is for a ball player to become a diamond star and then break into the movies.

As double for Buster Keaton and sundry other Hollywood cinema knights, Orsatti commanded a good salary and felt no great urge to play professional baseball. Keaton, it seems, is a baseball nut and, knowing Orsatti's ability, threatened to fire him if he didn't make good in organized baseball. The colorful Italian kid grinned, shrugged his shoulders and started for the bush. He started out in the Pacific Coast League in 1925, became a member of the Cardinals last spring and now

Here we are close to the season's windup and the Robins looking like a semi-pro outfit.

Baseball Editor Brooklyn Eagle:

Can we blame Uncle Robbie for the lowly state of our local team? I do not think so. How long has it taken Connie Mack to bring his A's up into a contending position?

No manager can wave the magic wand and produce the base hit in the pinch or the winning ball club in one season unless especially favored by the gods. On the other hand, if Robbie produces one or two stars in the next couple of years he will be coming up to par.

According to reports we have secured several new men for next year. Maybe Robbie will be fortunate enough to pick up another Stutz for his outfield and a real third baseman.

Robbie will have Del Bissonette, Herman and Hendrix for first base. If Bissonette makes good Hendrick may be used in the outfield, with the best fielding centerfielder, Arnold Stutz, as added defensive strength.

Partridge will improve at second base. He has a fine "double play" arm and, given a good shortstop, I am sure he would develop into a real second sacker. Wouldn't you like to see Bancroft working with Partridge? He would bring Jay along in a short time. Here's hoping Riconda lives up to advance notices at third base.

The outfield? We have a fielding outfield in "Jigger" Stutz alone. I have recently read where he is hitting over 300 for the past few months. Get Cuyler if you can, Robbie, for left field. For right field we can depend on either Hendrick, Tyson or West.

We could afford to give a couple of pitchers for Cuyler and Bancroft. Pennants are won, we are told, through strength through the center of the field. How about Henline, Vance, McWeeny, Elliott, Petty, Doak, etc., Bancroft, Partridge and Stutz.

I hope the Brooklyn fans will not be too severe with our Uncle Robbie, who is as much a part of baseball in this boro as is Ebbets Field. Find a Stutz a year and we will have a pennant in 1929.

Robbie Overrated, Fan Thinks.

Baseball Editor Brooklyn Eagle:

I am with George Moran in saying that the club needs a new manager if it expects to get anywhere in the next pennant race. Robbie has shown the fans that he is not a maker of players, as he is supposed to be.

The fans seem to think that the few flags won by the Brooklyn club were won by Robbie. They seem to forget that Charles Ebbets was alive then and the club was more or less directed by him. If they will look up the record of the club since his death they will find that the club has spent more money for players and has had less success than any other time.

The Easterners a hot welcome. In the first series of the last intersessional clash the Pirates swamped the Phillies and Braves, clubs that treated them so roughly last fall. The Cards took four straight from the Robins—the team that all but wrecked their pennant drive last September. The Cubs broke even with the Giants.

And the Reds! Ah, this is the saddest irony of the last two seasons. It was the Boston club that put the Reds out of the pennant fight last fall. And now that the Reds are not going anywhere, they jumped in and beat the Braves five straight games with ease and nonchalance. Funny thing about baseball.

Never in the history of the game has there been a four-club race clear into the last week, and it now appears that this remarkable struggle will continue right to the finish. Unless one of these four evenly matched contenders cracks or meets with misfortune, there should be more than the flicker of an eyelash between them when they cross the finish line.

The Pirates have the best outfield and three mighty good pitchers.

The Giants have the best infield and one mighty good pitcher.

The Cubs have the best spirit and one great pitcher, but Root has faltered in the stretch under the burden of overwork.

The club that can muster the most gameness under pressure will win the flag.

The Second Division Quartet.

The Robins have broken all major league records with fourteen shutouts registered against them this season. Hendrick is the lone 300 batsman of the regulars on Robbie's team. Stout pitching has been the lone Brooklyn asset this season.

Those Boston Braves have so far failed to stage their annual September war trail. There is a lot of fine material on this club and it is strange that they do not win more ball games.

The Phillies lead the league in fielding, something a Quaker team has not done since the memory of man runneth not to the contrary. They always hit well, those Phillies. The only deduction one can reach from all this is that their pitching must be very weak. Of course the Philly moundmen may well come back with the alibi that an errorless team can still let a lot of drives that ought to have been fielded go to basehits.

Those Cincinnati Reds have played winning ball since they returned home. They gave the Pirates an awful setback and then took five in a row from the Braves, long the September champions of the league. Hendrick will only have to get a pitcher, a shortstop and an outfielder to have his club fighting for the flag again next year. If some of his last year's stars have failed him, Dessen, Lucas and Jackie May have come out of the fog of obscurity and played grand ball for him this year.

Leaders Evenly Matched.

In their struggle for league honors among themselves the four leaders are most evenly matched. Pittsburg has made the best showing against the strong clubs, having won 3 from them and lost 25. The Pirates have four games yet to play with New York and four with Chicago. The series with the Giants stands 10 to 8 in favor of Pittsburg, while the Cubs hold the Pirates even at 9 to 9.

St. Louis has lost 14 to the Pirates and won only 3, taking its worst beating from the leaders. Thus it is seen that the Pirates have performed more consistently than any of the leaders.

Many Reasons Advanced Why Baseball Players Slump During a Season

By THOMAS HOLMES.

(Special Correspondent of The Eagle)

PITTSBURG, PA., Sept. 17—There are several hundred varieties of reasons why ball players slump. Sometimes an athlete's "bad year" is the result of injuries or ill health. Sometimes it is really a relapse to normal speed after an extensive period of playing "over his head." Or opposing pitchers may have discovered a hitherto unsuspected weakness in a ball player's armor.

And then again, there are slumps that seem to have no cause. A ball player—a young ball player with a great natural talent—will be in the best of condition. He has great natural form and apparently no startling weaknesses in any particular phase of the racket. But he can't seem to do anything right and the net result is the toughest sort of a slump to break.

Pete Donohue of the Reds languishes in the throes of one of those things. The tall Texan is a fine young pitcher—and proved it over a stretch of five years, in the course of which he piled up 100 victories for the Reds. He hasn't been hurt, seems to have all of his bountiful supply of stuff—and yet, his record this year is almost unbelievably poor. At last accounts Donohue had won only three victories, while suffering 18 defeats. And at the start of the present season there were plenty of National Leaguers who considered the graceful Cincinnati right-hander the best pitcher in Mr. John A. Heydeler's domain.

Bell and Douthit Join Donohue.

ASKED WHAT they think of Donohue's poor showing, other ball players will shrug their shoulders and declare it to be "one of those things." Which means that the other ball players cannot explain it, and the reason for the slump must be a matter of temperament and therefore psychological.

Two other noted examples of "psychological slumpers" in this pennant race are a pair of youthful Cardinals, expected to perform a multitude of mighty and valorous feats. No one has ever explained just what has happened to Lester Bell and Taylor Douthit.

Bell was a sparkling third baseman last season and a .325 hitter with a mighty punch. The boys linked his name with that of Pie Traynor as a brace of baseball's finest third basemen. Came another year and we find Bell hitting .280 or thereabouts, fielding in mediocre fashion and "riding the wood" (sitting on the bench) most of the time.

Douthit was a good center fielder, if not a particularly brainy one, and a fine hitter and leadoff man a year ago. During the winter Rogers Hornsby remarked that he expected Douthit to prove the greatest outfielder in the league this season. Hornsby was far from alone in that opinion. Douthit was young; he had just passed through a great season. His faults were not mechanical weaknesses but the faults of inexperience. And Douthit's slump has been as inexplicable as that of Bell or Donohue.

Douthit have been going badly all season for no apparent reason. A change to some other team might have brought them out of it. Their lack of confidence may pass off in the course of the winter and all three may hit their old stride in 1928.

But for the present those three athletes seem unable to help themselves. And their teammates and managers seem unable to help them.

The bunch in Cincinnati blame Donohue's showing on his hard luck start. Pete began the season by losing three 2 to 1 games in quick succession. It was so unusual for the tall Texan to start a campaign with a deficit of three games that it might have affected his confidence.

Hornsby Knew How To Treat His Men.

IN ST. LOUIS, Rogers Hornsby's passing to the Giants is regarded as the primary reason for the failure of one outfielder and one third baseman of the World's Champions. Bell and Douthit were considered "temperamental" before ever they went bad. But Hornsby supposedly "knew how to handle them," according to all accounts.

Douthit, they say, is naturally an easygoing chap, prone to take his base hits as he finds them and to live in peace from one day to the next. Bell is, from all reports, exactly the opposite—a young man prone to worry over every little misplay and every failure in the pinch.

Hornsby's method of dealing with the two extremes seems a highly illuminating bit of inside baseball. Rog "rode" the easygoing Douthit to a fare-thee-well, "bawled" him out right in view of the populace whenever he pulled a "bone" or missed a signal. Douthit wouldn't worry naturally. So Hornsby made him worry, by heaping coals of abuse on his head.

Pete Caesar Defeats Haber in C. I. Bout

Pete Caesar, holder of the Metropolitan, New York State and junior national championships in the 138-pound class, defeated Nat Haber, Sevad's Gym, in the feature bout of the boxing show, held under the auspices of the Metropolitan Welfare Board of the Junior Order United American Mechanics, at the Coney Island Stadium last night.

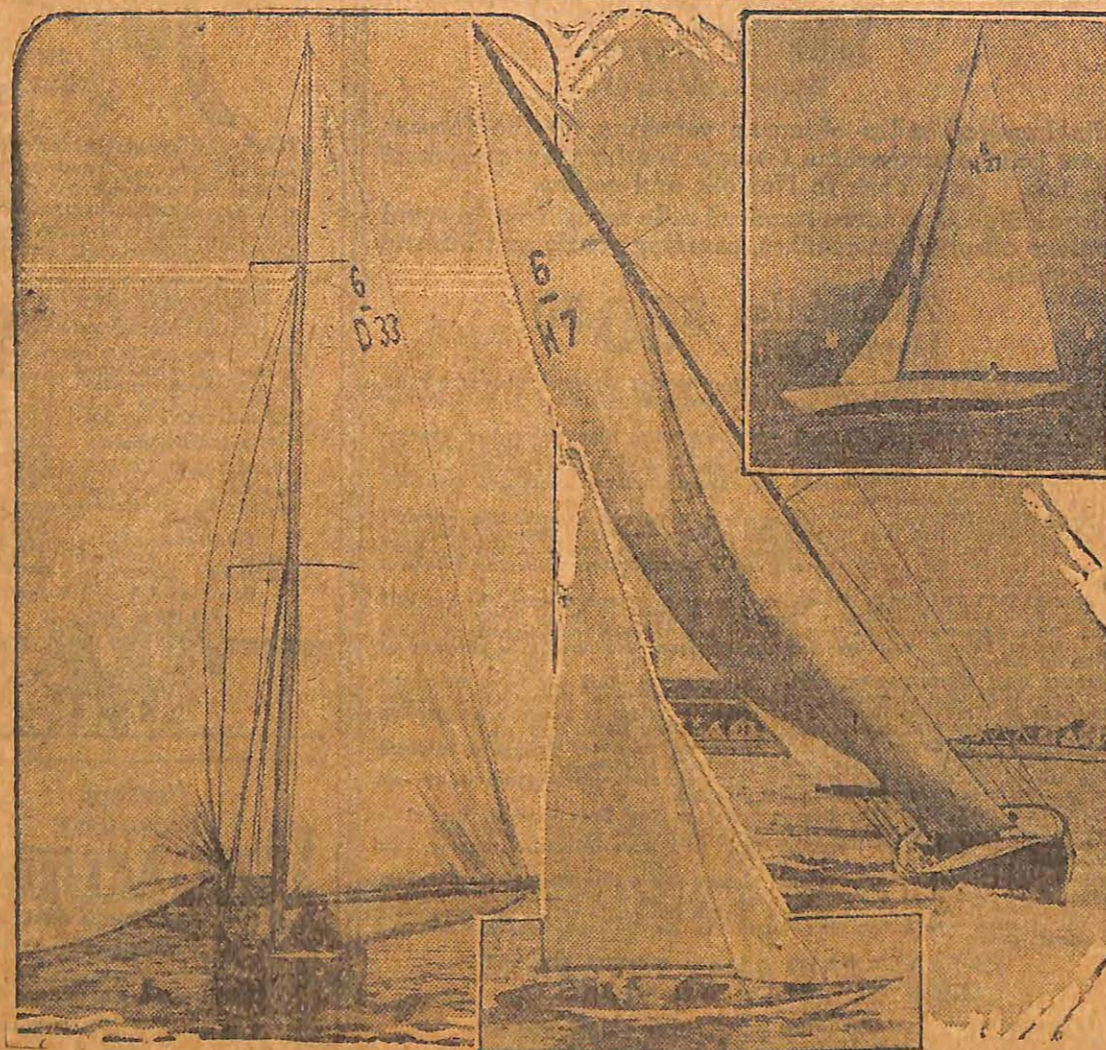

Caesar dropped his opponent twice in the final round, but Haber managed to weather the storm. In the early rounds, however, Haber led the champion and it was not until he weakened in the third that Caesar gained the advantage. The crowd did not seem to agree with the judges' decision.

135-pound class—Pete Caesar, St. Bartholomew, defeated Nat Haber, Seward's Gym, three rounds, judges' decision.

Many European Yachts to Race Lea, American Defender, for the Gold Cup

Among the yachts challenging America for the Scandinavian Gold Cup are the Lily, representing Denmark (left); the Maybe, Sweden (lower center); the De Ruyter, Holland, and the Norge, Norway (upper right).

OSTER BAY, L. I., Sept. 17 (AP)—The six-meter sloop Lea, sailing against the challenge of a half dozen European nations, will defend the prestige of American yachtsmen in the Scandinavian Gold Cup races on Long Island Sound, beginning Sept. 24.

The Lea is an old-time international contender, regarded as one of the best boats of her class ever built here. She is owned by F. E. R. Nichols and sailed by Corny Shields, with Nichols and Robert Goeller as members of the crew.

Norway, Sweden, Denmark, England, Holland and Italy will enter the race against America. Crown Prince Olav of Norway is one of the owners of the yacht Norge, which will represent Norway. The Norge proved the better of two boats built to compete for the Scandinavian Gold Cup. Her captain is Magnus Konow, a millionaire whaling magnate. He has with him two of the best-known Norwegian amateur sailors, Tullin Thams, the famous skier, and Tit Ditlev-Simonsen.

American Minister Sponsors Swedish Boat.

The American Minister, Leland Harrison, an enthusiastic yachtsman,

Carlson and Sture Lindgren as crew. Two descendants of Niels Juul, Denmark's great naval hero, are members of the crew of the Lily, which represents Denmark in the races. They are Baron Juul Brockdorff and Billy Konow. The Lily will be sailed by Arnold Jensen, her builder. She was finished this summer and has shown well in races with Norwegian, Swedish and Finnish boats.

English Rose Is Dangerous. England is represented by the English Rose, which has won in American waters recently. In a race on Long Island Sound the Swedish yacht Maybe was only 21 seconds astern of the English Rose at the end of a 9 1/2-mile race. Morgan Giles, the British designer of racing yachts, will pilot the English Rose in the Scandinavian Gold Cup race, with Mrs. Giles and Maj. Robert Norton in the crew.

The yacht De Ruyter is Holland's entry. Her skipper, J. R. Carp, has sailed in events off the coasts of Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Germany, England, France and Italy. The De Ruyter, built last year, has won a number of races on the Zuyder Zee.

The best yachting experts that Italy can boast make up the crew of the Mafi, which represents Italy. The Mafic, Leona Darric, the ship,

Meehan Brings Squad Back With Prospects Bright.

Head Coach "Chick" Meehan and his New York University football players are back in the city today. Back from a 17-day encampment at Farmingdale, L. I., which has proved to be the most gratifying preliminary training siege in the history of the game at the university. Back to their University Heights quarters and their home lot, Ohio Field, on which gridiron they have never been beaten since the Meehan regime was instituted in 1925.

Meehan's stalwarts are ready to launch the drive that is expected to carry them to the top of the collegiate heap by Thanksgiving Day. The first number on the program at Ohio Field next Saturday afternoon is Niagara University. There are about 50 men on the Violet squad. There are 10 games to be played.

Captain "Smiling" Jack Connor, John "Bing" Miller and Frank Briante shape up as the three most probable starters in their regular positions. Connor at quarterback has few equals on the gridiron. Briante, captain of the team last season, should be in for the greatest year of his career. Miller's work to the Violet team is recognized more in the Hall of Fame camp than it is elsewhere. He is considered the most dependable man on the squad.

Al "T.N.T." Lassman looks like a best-bet entry at right end. The experiment which converted the giant All-America tackle into an end has proved successful. "Iron Mike" Rioridan shapes up as the best of the remaining string of end potentials. With the exception of "Bing" Miller, the tackle-to-tackle entente situation is still nebulous. At the running guard post, Dave Myers, a converted end, has been setting the pace, but the issue is between him and Frank Cesteri, Mike Blis and Bernard Satenstein. On the other side of the pivot is John Bunyan.

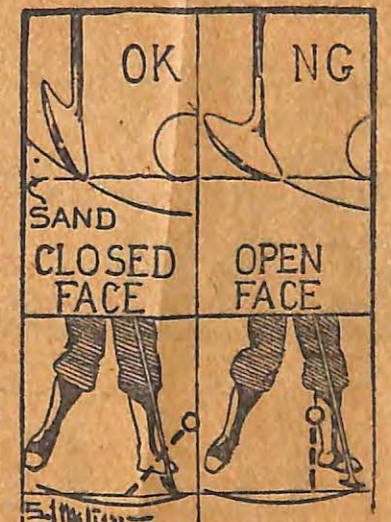

One of the biggest surprises of the year is the battle which Bob Dunn has been called upon to make to retain his standing on the varsity. Considered a certainty at center, Big Bob is having a difficult time keeping up with "Buff" Collins, former freshman pivot man. Ed "Horse" Weiner is the official right tackle at this time, but with Galahad Grant, Julius Helfand and Fred Brown in the immediate offing.

Flowers and Pisano In Draw at Ridgewood

Bruce Flowers and Augie Pisano fought a six-round draw last night at the Ridgewood Grove. Flowers put up a poor exhibition in the first rounds but finished very strong.

In the semi-final bout of six rounds Joe La Grey defeated Al Conway. Joe Barbara was awarded the verdict over Murray Lyton in another six-rounder. Tony Lorenzo outpointed Lou Presti in six rounds. In a four-rounder Paul Canamare beat Matty Guida. Willie Seigel scored the only knockout when he stopped Al Matera in the last round of the opening six-rounder.

Jones Explodes Ball With Sand VISUAL GOLF

By SOL METZGER. Golfers from Bobby Jones and Walter Hagen down to the veriest dub get into traps. Any one can do it. The trick is to get out. Playing out of sand isn't such a difficult art if one knows how. The stars use a closed-face niblick to turn the trick. About every one else opens the face of the club. What closed and open face mean is shown above.

Jones takes sand on his explosion shots, as do all golfers who get out of such lies. And he drives the club face on through, keeping his wrists stiff and hitting with all his might. The closed face pushes the sand forward and upward and the particles of sand—not the club face—lift the ball without spin so that it drops "dead"—without roll when it strikes the green.

If he used an open face and took sand the effect would be as pictured

British Boat Wins International Race

(Special to The Eagle.)

Port Washington, Sept. 17—In the international six-meter class race sailed here today the British boat, English Rose was first. The Heron owned and sailed by Frank Hekma, finished 50 seconds later. It was followed by the Danish boat, Maybe.

Robert Meyers' sloop, Bob Cat, found the going to her liking in the R class and won easily. Fifi was second. Puffin, owned and sailed by Junius Morgan Jr., was third.

In the victory class the Avanti came home in front. Reveille was a good second. Vindictive was third. Alleen, sailed by Corny Shields, showed the way in the interclub class. Her closest rivals were Babbett and Weebetty. Lewis Iselin brought his Ace home a winner in the star class. He was 1:12 ahead of Tempe II, H. L. Adler's yacht. The Little Bear finished third.

Dave Crampton of New Rochelle cleaned up the Wee Scots when he brought his Sea Hawk in 3:18 ahead of Palora, belonging to E. H. Roper.

British Open Golf Tourney At Royal St. George's in 1928

London, Sept. 17 (AP)—The championship committee of the royal and ancient golf club of St. Andrews announced today that the 1928 British Open Championship would be played at the Royal St. George's Club course at Sandwich, Kent, during the week beginning May 7.

on the right above—the ball would be tossed almost straight up, to lie by the sand. That's why so many golfers fail to get out of sand lies. The closed face, however, will tell the ball to drop dead, and he should take to get a great distance.
