My dear Cousins:

Just a line to try to tell you how much we enjoyed seeing and talking to you both again. There are so many things in common which I always like to talk to you of, that time flies so swiftly.

Tho' we missed most of the sights of the island, we enjoyed it, and it was most different from what we had visualized it.

We had an unevenly ride back, except the wrong turns, and checked in at ten past eight-rain clouds etc notwithstanding.

I do hope we can see one another ere too long.

With every good wish and our love,

Sincerely

Paul Morthe
